Oceana Santa Monica

The newly renovated Oceana Santa Monica is a fresh, new addition to Santa Monica's beachside scene. A classic on the long row of Ocean Avenue's fabulous hotels, the property recently upped its game with a multimillion dollar renovation. The once private and cozy hotel is now a paradise-like beach escape reminiscent of a chic, Caribbean bungalow. It's a secluded oasis in which only hotel guests have access to experience all of the remarkable services offered in the impeccable, relaxed atmosphere. The latest addition to Oceana is a new menu in the now full-service restaurant and poolside lounge created by Jonathan Moor of Bond Street in New York, featuring casual eats such as the Stand Burger and signature spiked milkshakes. Of the 70 luxurious suites, one-third provide breathtaking views of the Pacific. The spacious rooms include 60-inch plasma TVs, bedside iPod docking stations, top quality mattresses embellished with high thread count Italian linens, and lively décor accented by Jonathan Adler pottery. Endless summers are finally within reach any time of year.
